From the New-York Gazette, Feb. 17. MORE PIRACY. The schooner Wealthy, Bailey, arrived

was boarded, on the 12th of January, on her passage from St. Eustalia for St. Baris. by the piratical schooner Bellona, commanded by Joseph Bellegarde, a native of Guadaloupe. Her decks were covered with ruffians of all colors. She sheered close alongside without hailing-the Captain giving orders, in French, to man the boats, and board the schooner. Observing us to be Americans, he directed an English negro to go with the heat, and to act as an interpreter. On our replying, in French, that we could make ourselves understood without an interpreter, the Captain took up a loaded musket, and discharged it among us, alming at a spot on the quarter deck where were standing together the master, mate and supercargo of the Wealthy, observing, in French, "Here is the best interpreter." A fortunate roll of the vessel prevented consequences that might have been fatal. The ball penetrated the quarter boards, and was stopped by a wet studding sall which bung in several folds over the rail, to dry. A gang of desperadoes immediately threw drawn cutlasses, tore off the hatches, and proceeded to search the hold. After a little time they returned to the piratical schooner, saying this was not the vessel they took her to be. Fr m some Irish sailors who were among their boat's crew, the name of the pirate and her commander were obtained. They informed furthermore. that the Five Islands was their place of rendezvous, whither they had taken and gutted several of their prizes. Six nights afterwards, Captain Joseph Bellegarde, venturing privately on shore at St. Bartholomews. was surprised and taken by the government on charges of several acts of piracy, and expecially for the illegal capture of a vessel of the claims of our merchants for spoliabelonging to a merchant of that Island. It was generally believed the facts would be proved. Many pirates were lorking about St. Bartholomews, chiefly under the Venezuelean flag. Many profitable speculations were daily making among them by persons from the neighboring Islands."

The small pox raged to a considerable degree in Martinque, Gaudaloupe and St. Martins, The disease was introduced by an American Guineaman into the port of Martinique. This small vessel, less than 180 tons, imported 350 slaves from Africa. It was computed that above half the number had fallen victims. FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON Sunday, February 21.

A joint resolution passed yesterday, or motion of Mr. Pleasants, the object of which is to prescribe the manner in which the ships of the United States' navy are bereafter to be named. It ordains, that, for the future, all vessels shall be hamed by the secretary of the navy, under the direction of the President, in the following manners: Ships of the first class are to be called after the states which compose the union.

after the rivers of the United States. Ships of the third class after the principal cities and towns .- And no two vessels the navy are to bear the same name.

Ships of the second class are to be called

The resolution was read twice, and ordered to be engrossed. Giving a foose to the imagination, and looking forward into the womb of time, strange things may be conceived to arise out of the interchanges of vessels, which may take place in a hard contested naval war. It is not absolutely impossible that some future English admiral may lead the British line to battle in the New-York-and be opposed by an American admiral, leading up his fleet in the London. That the Philadelphia may run on board the Liverpool, and both go down together and that the Thames and the Potomac, grappled yard arm and yard arm, may take fire and blow up in the fury of an engagement.

The Arkansas bill was passed. In a committee of the whole on the United States bank, Mr. Lowndes spoke, and ably spoke, for between three and four bottrs, in opposition to the motion of Mr. inson, of Virginia. You may rely upon it that the bank will be supported by congress, though Mr. Tyler spoke, handsometoo, against it, for an bour and moreafter which the committee rose, and the house adjourned.

CESSION OF FLORIDA.

A letter to the aditor of the Mercantile Advertiser, dated at Washington the 15th nst. revives the rumor "that our government is about concluding a treaty with the Spanish minister here, for the purchase of Plorida, unconditionally to be transferred to the United States, except that we are to assume, as the consideration, the payment tions by Spatish cruizers."

Genesian for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and lertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, se as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and leantifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an extract equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about, two miles on a stream navigable for vessels corrying 120th bushels of wheat, where the Dillimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is hecesary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion. 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious baros, touses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of time are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent on the fence, both useful and ornamental, two nechands of well selected applies and peach. Gunston for Sale. live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, hesides an abundance of other choice fruit. besides an aburdance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, now of which (and till might,) have been reclaimed at a triling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, caltile, highly improved sheep, farming mensels and household farmiture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge will be taken in payment—Letters must be addressed to me at Polick Church, Fairlax county. Virginia.

Viluable Property for Sale, The subscriber is desirious of selling a innuisomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Verson estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—10 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and amothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and tye, and clover, last spring—the whole enused with a new post and rail fence.— William Corper; Samuel Linisary and Laurence Hill, joint merchants and convenient frame dwelling house convenient frame dwelling house that he had been and kitchen, smoke house, poultry for the garden, and a large nody of mersh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best finishing or clover.—With the latin would be soil a number of very valuable and kitchen turniture; come gat and rye, and 40 tons hay Also, adjoining the one above described, a ferm containing 160 agrees, recently enclosed, on which is a brock house, which a trifling expense would render combortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into madow.—It would be soil at the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that he will maly be sold to person residuag in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The sibsoriher will also sell the greater part of the household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the court, and the court, and the said defendant. Thomas H. Beall, is not an institution of the suit complained, the first described part might be casify converted into madow.—It would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that he publicated for two months successively in the front door of the court, and that a copy of this order be forthwith published for two months successively in the front door of the court-house of said county, and that another copy he posted at the front door of the court-house of said county.

PROPOSALS

BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription, A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS

TO THE Beclaration of Independence. ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;

To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itseti, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq. TO THE PUBLIC. T seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Ladependence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have flwelt with rapture upon the document that amounced to the world that these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and indepen-dent states;" while we are better acquaint-ed with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their sign tures to that instrument. The founders of the only re-maining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves, and it behaves a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are lugitive and evanescent; and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body. It is not the object of the present attempt, to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate and unsparing panegyrie, so often and so ialsely dignified with the name of Biography: we wish to represent the characters as they were; they stand in need of no pasurviving relations and friends of those re-volutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a development of character. Man is the creature of circumstance, and Man is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and undaunted champions of their country's independence. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving friends or relatives will lurnish facts and be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period embracing much curious and secret history: finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the ebjects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to thatinatrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with facsimiles of the signatures, will being into one compact view the prominent facts of that interesting crises.
